Distress After Eating

Nausea between meals, belching, vomiting, flatulence, fits of nervous headache, pain in the stomach, are all symptoms of dyspepsia, and the longer it is neglected the harder it is to cure it.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Radically and permanently cure it—strengthen and tone the stomach and other digestive organs for the natural performance of their functions.

Accept no substitute for Hood's.

"I had dyspepsia twenty-five years and took different medicines but got no help until I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Have taken four bottles of this medicine and can now eat almost anything, sleep well, have no cramps in my stomach, no burning and no distress." Mrs. WILLIAM G. BARRETT, 14 Olney St., Providence, R. NO DATE SET FOR VOTE AS YET

Effort to Fix Time to Close Debate on Philippine Bill.

ESS ACROMONY WAS SHOWN

Senators Apologize for Their Language of Day Before—House Passed the Statehood Bill—Delegate Smith Had a Spell.

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 9.—An effort was made in the Senate to obtain an agreement upon a time for a vote on the pending Philippine bill, but it was unsuccessful. The minority insisted on the bill indicating that as many Senators yet desired to speak upon the measure, it would not be proper to determine at this time upon a vote. As compared with the debate of recent days that of to-day on the Philippine bill was mild. Mr. Teller, of Colorado, occupied considerable time in opposition to the measure. He contended principally that the Filipinos were capable of self-government, and of establishing a government that was quite equal to some European governments.

In the early part of the session a debate occurred over the resolution to discharge the Committee on Privileges and Elections from further consideration of the proposed constitutional amendment providing for the election of Senators by the people. Finally the resolution was withdrawn, assurances being given that a report from the committee would be made to the Senate.

Mr. Morgan, of Alabama, expressed his opposition to any change in the Constitution of any character.

MUTUAL APOLOGIES.
Speaking to a question of privileges, Mr. Carmack, of Tennessee, said: "I feel that I ought to say what occurred yesterday, having used language unjust to the Senator from Iowa, to offer my apologies to him. Our personal relations are most cordial and I would not use language that would be offensive to him." He added that under an honest and genuine sense of outrage he had employed some language in characterizing the acts in the Philippines, which, perhaps, he ought not to have used. Whatever might be his personal opinion of Generals Bell and Smith, it was not proper to apply to them harsh and offensive epithets. He withdrew these epithets, and said in the future he would endeavor to refrain from employing such language.

Mr. Dooliver said he had been drawn into the debate quite incidentally and had not intended to reflect upon Mr. Carmack. If he had wounded the sensibilities of Mr. Carmack, he regretted it.

In the House.
(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 9.—The opposition in the House to the bill for the admission of Oklahoma, Arizona and New Mexico collapsed at the last moment to-day, and the bill was passed without division, as it came from the committee, except for a few verbal amendments. The closing scenes of the debate were accompanied by a dramatic incident, which narrowly escaped being a tragedy.

Delegate Mark A. Smith, of Arizona, who has been fighting for the admission of his Territory for a dozen years, had just made a vigorous speech against the overstreet amendment, when he was seized with a rush of blood to the head. He was conveyed to the lobby, where only the presence of several physicians who are members of the House and the prompt administration of medicine saved him. For a time it was feared that he would have a stroke of apoplexy just as he was about to realize the dream of his years of labor. He later rallied and was removed to his hotel.

MAKES A STATEMENT.
Commissioner Evans Makes Good and Declares He Was Not Pushed Out.

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 9.—In view of the published statements to the contrary it can be said on authority that Evans desires to sever his connection with the Pension Bureau was not prompted by any suggestion or promise of the President or any one speaking for him. His resignation as Commissioner was a voluntary act and entirely independent of any outside consideration.

After the announcement to-day that his nomination as Consul-General to London had been confirmed by the Senate, Mr. Evans made a grandiloquent statement in praise of himself and his nomination, concluding as follows:

"When the position of Consul-General was presented, I felt that my business training and capacity was such that I could fill it with credit to my country."

THOUSANDS BURNED IN MOLTEN LAVA
lived at St. Pierre, and, according to Mr. Aymes, have nearly all perished.

OVER FORTY THOUSAND.
Cable Officials Get News from Island of Dominica.

(By Associated Press.)
SAN JUAN, PORTO RICO, May 9.—The cable officials here have received advice from the Island of Dominica that a schooner, which has arrived there from the Island of Martinique, reports that over 40,000 people are supposed to have perished during the volcanic disturbance in Martinique. The cable repair steamer Grappler, belonging to the West India and Panama Telegraph Company, of London, was lost, with all hands, during the eruption of Mont Pelee, at St. Pierre, Martinique.

The Grappler was one of the first ships to disappear.

DUST FALLING STILL.

BRIDGETOWN, ISLAND OF BARBADOES, BRITISH WEST INDIES, May 9.—Volcanic dust from the eruption on the Island of St. Vincent is still falling here. The roads and houses are covered an inch thick.

The Island of Barbadoes is over a hundred miles from the Island of St. Vincent.

Whole Country Ruined.
(By Associated Press.)
PORTLAND, MAINE, May 10.—J. H. Hamlin & Son this morning received the following telegram in reply to one sent to a correspondent:

"Point-a-Pitre, May 9.—To Hamlin, Portland. Horrible calamity! St. Pierre completely destroyed; all the country ruined; all the shipping destroyed. Gaudeloupe safe. Organizing assistance."

CITY OF ST. PIERRE.
Facts About Town Destroyed by Volcanic Disturbance.

St. Pierre was the largest town and the commercial center of the French Island of Martinique. It was the largest town in the French West Indies and was well built and prosperous. It had a population of about 25,000.

It was divided into two parts, known as the upper and the lower town. The lower town was compact, with narrow streets and unhealthy. The upper town was cleaner, healthier and handsomely laid out.

There was in the upper town a fine botanical garden and an old Catholic College, as well as a fine hospital. Mount Pelee, the largest of the group of volcanic mountains, is about 4,000 feet high. It had long been inactive as a volcano, although in August, 1851, it had a violent eruption. It is in the northwestern end of the island and near the foot of its western slope, fronting the bay. St. Pierre was built.

The constant residence at St. Pierre were, for the United States, T. T. Prentiss, Great Britain, J. Japp, Denmark, M. E. S. Meyer, Italy, P. Phossonne, Mexico, E. Dupre, Sweden and Norway, Gustave B.

There were found banks in the city—the Banque de la Martinique, Banque Transatlantique, Colonial Bank of London and the Credit Foncier Colonial.

There were sixteen commission merchants, twelve dry goods stores, twenty-two provision dealers, twenty-six rum manufacturers, eleven colonial produce merchants, four brokers and two hardware dealers.

ISLAND OF MARTINIQUE.
The Island of Martinique has the same general characteristics as its nearest neighbors, with some peculiarities of its own. Its extreme length is about forty-five miles from northwest to southeast, and the main part of it is in the shape of an oval with rough edges, its greatest width being fifteen miles. At the lower end of this main part, the old Fort Royal Bay—since the French Revolution called Port de France Bay—cuts in so deep as to come within six miles of meeting the inlets of Le Robert and Le François on the other side.

OF VOLCANIC CHARACTER.
The whole area of the island, near 30 square miles, is mountainous. Besides Mount Pelee, there are further south and about midway of the oval the three craters of Courbet and all along the great ridge are the black and ragged cones of old volcanoes.

In the section south of the deep bay there are two less elevated and more irregular ridges, one running southeast and terminating in the Piton Vauclin and the other extending westward and presenting to view on the coast Mounts Cariba and Constant.

The mountainous interior is torn and gashed by ancient earthquake upheavals, and there are perpendicular cliffs, deep clefts and gorges, black holes filled with water and swift torrents dashing over precipices and falling into caverns—in a word all the fantastic savagery of volcanic scenery, but the whole covered with the verdure of the tropics.

The total population of the island is reckoned at 175,000, of whom 10,000 are whites, 15,000 of Asiatic origin and 150,000 blacks of all shades from ebony to light octoroon.

Martinique has two interesting claims to distinction. The first is that the Empress Josephine was born there as was Mme. de Maintenon, the latter passing her girlhood on the island as Françoise d'Aubigne. At Port de France there is a marble statue of the Empress Josephine.

MARTINIQUE IN SPANISH WAR.
Martinique became a French colony in this country during the recent war with Spain. The first news of the arrival of the Spanish fleet of Admiral Cervera came from St. Pierre. At 9:30 in the morning of May 11, 1898, the cruiser Harvard arrived at St. Pierre and at 6 o'clock the same evening a faithful correspondent at Port de France communicated to the Harvard's commander the fact that the Spanish torpedo boat destroyer Furor had put into Port de France. The destroyer turned out to be the Terror instead of the Furor, but the important fact that Cervera was on this side of the ocean was established.
